

A&D PARTNER Chemistry In Place

THE CHALLENGE

- Transform a white-box office into a client-centric space to innovatively address how law is practiced and anticipate how it will be practiced throughout the course of ten years
- Incorporate flexibility to intuitively respond to changes and growth to remain relevant over time
- Connect with the unique voice of modern Indianapolis through aesthetically relevant yet durable interiors that reflect the brand standards and quality of services at Quarles & Brady

THE SOLUTION

- Floor covering from a trusted design partner that span a range of aesthetics, to resonate with the innovative Indianapolis market and complement Steelcase furniture pairings

- A contemporary and monochromatic color palette, grounded by Op Art from Milliken's award-winning Art Media collection, offers a fresh, light, open, and flexible backdrop to adapt to changing design and work preferences over time
- The strategic layout of three colors of Op Art reflects and connects with the angled ceiling plane, creating an organic flow throughout the space
- Inviting client hospitality and work areas, including coffee lounges and "third spaces" for collaboration and focused work, create a comfortable environment for clients

THE FEEDBACK

"Milliken carpet speaks to what we're trying to accomplish for our clients – to be innovative and creative in solving their problems."

- Kimberly Leach Johnson, Firm Chair,
Quarles & Brady LLP

"Design standards are important, but they have to adapt to the local market. Partnering with Milliken, we can choose from a variety of carpet patterns without compromising performance."

- John J. Peterburs, Executive Director,
Quarles & Brady LLP

"This office is my tool to grow Quarles & Brady LLP in Indianapolis. The environment aesthetics are a very important tool to achieve this - and it gives us a unique advantage to grow innovative legal services..."

- D. Linden Barber, Indianapolis Office
Managing Partner, Quarles & Brady LLP
